That's What English Papers Say

OF MR. CLEVELAND'S LETTER

The Man Greater Than His Party Handled Without Gloves By Senator Sherman.

LONDON, September 27.—The Times says of Cleveland's letter that it has a less confident ring than President Harrison's on the tariff question, and he evidently was afraid to assert his policy with equal courage and clearness. His language is not easily reconciled with the principles laid down at Chicago. Doubtless his contempt for the alarms of protectionists is fully justified, but if he is right why should free trade be treated as a bogy?

The Post, commenting on Cleveland's letter, says it is clear that the American public is still a good way from the penitence which their European teachers in economic science await with such confidence.

The Standard thinks the attempt to find a middle course in the tariff question will seriously hamper Cleveland. The hesitant obscurity of his language, says the Standard, shows his difficulty in expounding his own policy. Harrison has the advantage of sweeping confidence that will appeal forcibly to national prejudices and passions. On the currency question there is little to choose between the two candidates.

SHERMAN'S SAY.

MANSFIELD, O., September 27.—In a speech this evening Senator Sherman referred to Cleveland's letter of acceptance, calling attention to the particular fact that no mention is made in it of the Chicago plank. "He did not dare endorse it," says the senator, "for the Democratic is the only party since the formation of the federal government that dared proclaim a protective tariff as unconstitutional, and will wish it had not before the election. They talk about the latter day Democracy being the party of Jefferson and Jackson. Why, they would not own it if they were alive today."

SAVED AT LAST.

The Captain of the Whaleback on Land Again.

MARSHFIELD, Or., September 27.—After ten days of suffering from cold and hunger and the probability of filling a watery grave, Captain O'Brien and his watchman, William Holmes, were rescued from the whaleback steamer Wetmore this afternoon by Captain Bergman and the Umpqua life saving crew, a week after the crew had been taken off the wreck. Captain O'Brien and his watchman went aboard the vessel during a calm to prevent parties from boarding her and claiming salvage, when a storm came on and for the last ten days all efforts of the life saving crew to rescue the shipwrecked men were futile and it seemed certain that they must perish.

The sea was not running so high today as yesterday, yet it was a hard struggle for the rescuers to reach the vessel.

After several hours work they put a line aboard which Captain O'Brien and Holmes tied about their waists and then jumped into the sea when the life crew pulled them safely to shore.

The men were almost worn out from exposure. For the last five days the men have lived upon one scant meal a day and this morning they divided the last biscuit. Their suffering from cold was terrible, and for two days they stood in water up the waist and the spray dashed over their bodies.

The wharf at Empire was crowded today when the men came ashore and there is great interest in caring for their wants.

The weather side of the Wetmore's main cabin is stove in and the vessel will undoubtedly prove a total loss.

Marriage of Miss Reid.

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., September 27.—Ophir farm mansion, the country residence of Whitelaw Reid, was the scene of a fashionable wedding today, the contracting parties being Ella Spencer Reid, niece of Whitelaw Reid, and Judge Ralph Chandler Harrison of the supreme court of California. The bride is 25 years of age and the groom 56. The bride lately returned from a protracted visit to the Pacific coast, where she met Judge Harrison. The engagement was kept secret until Mr. Reid's recent visit to his mother at Cedarville. Reid's niece has been a member of his household for several years.

The ceremony was performed by Archdeacon Kirby, rector of Christ's Episcopal church at Rye. The bride was given away by her uncle, Whitelaw Reid. The couple will visit the bride's grandmother at Cedarville, O., then proceed to California.

Not Public Property.

ALBANY, N. Y., September 27.—Labor Commissioner Peck appeared in court today. He said he should not be called on to permit an examination of the tariff statistics received from New York manufacturers, because they were given in confidence, and the facts were obtainable in no other way. The returns were his own property and not that of the state. The case went over till October 1st.

A Maniac's Deed.

BORDENTOWN, N.J., September 29.—Lena Schmitt, a German woman of this place, this afternoon murdered three small children. One of her victims was her own son, the others two little sons of a neighbor, William Bowkner, children 1 to 3 years old. The woman, who is be lieved to be insane, could not tell the officers why she murdered the children.

Died From Injuries.

HEALDSBURG, September 27.—Aaron Hassett, who was badly burned by the burning of his distillery in this city yesterday, died this morning from his injuries. He was a pioneer resident of this section, being one of the first settlers. He left a large estate.

Water Is Scarce.

FORT BRAGG, September 27. — The finest residence portion of this town is burning. The fire originated in the residence of George W. Perkins at 7 o'clock. Three hundred men are fighting the fire, with no water.

J. E. Coombs of Pocatello, Idaho, a brother of Charles E. Coombs of this city, is in Fresno for a two months' visit.

CANADY'S CRIME.

Crazed by Business Failures He Suicides.

WASHINGTON, September 27.—William P. Canady of North Carolina, ex-sergeant-at-arms of the senate, suicided here this morning by shooting himself through the head. He had been in financial difficulties for some time.

Canady's business was loaning money on security such as the banks refused to handle, and was launching a company to guarantee patents.

The first scene in the tragedy was about daylight this morning, when a gentleman rooming above was attracted to Canady's door by the latter's cries. He found Canady bound and gagged, and the latter claimed that this was the work of harglars who had forced him to open his safe and take out the contents.

When Colonel Houghton arrived he told Canady he did not believe his story and thought it was a ruse to cover the theft by Canady of $2000 which Houghton put in the safe the previous evening. Houghton then went out to get policemen.

When he returned he found Canady lying dead, bathed in his blood with a bullet hole through his head.

It seems that there was a woman in the case, Miss Moore, for whom he left a note declaring that he was guilty of no wrong, and asked God to bless her as his last prayer. The tragedy is the climax to a decade of wild adventurous speculation in projects of a hazardous kind.

The police are investigating the statement of Captain Houghton that he put $2000 in the safe yesterday. How Canady could make away with it is, under the circumstances, a difficult question to answer. Miss Moore, whom Canady visited yesterday evening, and to whom he left a note, is a young lady of excellent family and good reputation, whom Colonel Canady knew in South Carolina. She lives here with a married sister, and Canady's call was a brief social one.

A Chicago Discovery.

CHICAGO, September 27.—A special from Springfield, Ill., says a wonderful phenomenon was witnessed in the heavens early this evening. A bright body, resembling a large star, was seen moving with astonishing rapidity toward the moon, which it struck, and was then seen to burst like a bomb, darkening the light of the moon for an instant. It is thought by some that the huge meteor came within the power of the moon's attraction and fell into the moon.

Bound to Get There.

PATERSON, N. J., September 27.—Frederick Mollenberg murdered his wife, wounded his daughter, and suicided today. It was the result of a family quarrel. His son had recovered judgment against him for certain moneys. Today he had words with his daughter Lena about the matter, and began to beat her with a strap, when the mother interfered. Mollenburg drew a revolver, shot the daughter, inflicting a slight wound, put a bullet through his wife's brain, and then suicide.

Didn't Work.

SAN FRANCISCO, September 27.—The supreme court today denied a writ of mandate to F. F. Jenning's requiring the governor to call a special election for state senator in the fortieth senatorial district.

Broke a Blood Vessel.

BOSTON, September 27.—At Mystic park today, in the 2.30 race, Midnight Chimes, a black filly owned by C. J. Hamlin, burst a blood vessel and fell dead. She was valued at $25,000.

A Fleet Flyer.

TERRE HAUTE, September 27.—Flying Jib paced an exhibition half mile in one minute today, the last eighth being made in 13¾ seconds.

PETTY OFFENDERS.

A BUSY DAY FOR RECORDER LANING.

Two Tomale Peddlers in Trouble. The Daly Case to be Decided Today.

Recorder Laning had a busy day yesterday, disposing of a number of offenders against the majesty of the law.

Elmer Train and William Cooper, tomale peddlers, who were arrested the night before by Officer Smith for visiting an opium joint, were put under $150 bonds each and their trial set for this afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Another complaint charging petty larceny was filed against the youthful George Murcau, who seems to be a "snapper-up of unconsidered trifles" of rare skill. George Meemer is the complainant and the stolen article a watch chain.

M. C. Combs got drunk instead of intoxicated and was fined $5 for his plebian offence. Arthur Holm's was a cheaper drunk still, and he was only fined $3. Both paid their fines.

Tom Wilson, Charles Peterson, F. L. Bowen and Kittie Arlinger were up for disturbing the peace. Officer Babcock arrested them. The quartet are charged with conducting themselves in a very indecent manner in a grove on the other side of the track, near Fresno street. They pleaded not guilty and will have their trial this afternoon. Kittie was given a three months' floater a few days ago, but she didn't float.

Officer Johnson arrested a man early yesterday morning because he acted like an insane person. The man said he was being pursued by robbers and complained bitterly of the sidewalk, which, he said, occasionally jumped up and hit him in the face. Just then Officer Johnson was needed elsewhere and he told the man to wait for him. At 10 o'clock yesterday morning the fellow was still in the same place, having remained there six or seven hours. He was then arrested and lodged in jail.

Recorder Laning will probably give his decision in the Daly case, selling liquor without a license, this morning.

DIED.

GRIFFITH.—In this city, December 27, 1803, S. Griffith, a native of North Carolina, aged 65 years.

Funeral at 10 a.m., Thursday, from residence on Poplar avenue.

A FIENDISH MURDERER

The Notorious Dr. Beale's Record

IS MADE KNOWN AT LAST

He Made a Business of Disposing of Infants for the Filthy Lucre.

SAN FRANCISCO, September 27.—The Examiner this morning prints the statement of a woman named Montrose, who charges that within a period of ten months, ending last May, forty new born infants were disposed of in such a manner by Dr. H. C. Beale, to whom she rented rooms for a lying-in hospital, as to convince her they were murdered by him.

Beale, or Haven, as his real name is given, was arrested last month charged with causing the death of a young woman by a criminal operation.

It was shown that he had acquired large sums by such practice. He was held for trial in $10,000 bail, which he forfeited and escaped.

The bodies of the infants, Mrs. Montrose states, were either thrown into the bay or cremated by Beale at other quarters occupied by him.

THE TRAIN ROBBERS.

They Are Still Not Where They Ought to Be.

Burke and his posse, who were seen near this city Sunday going in a northerly direction, were reported yesterday to be near Goshen. Will Smith has disappeared mysteriously and Thacker and his posse have not been heard from since they left Fresno last Saturday. Sheriff Hensley was also absent from town yesterday and no one knew where he had gone.

The story of Sontag and Evans' visit to the camp of S. Lehman last Thursday was exploded by Mr. Lehman himself, who says the men were two employes of the flume company. Considerable doubt is expressed now that the robbers have been in the valley at all. It is believed by the better informed that they are still in the mountains working northward, and will descend into the valley in some northern county. It is getting quite cold in the mountains already and it is only a matter of a few weeks when the robbers will have to leave them.

News came from Sanger yesterday that a man who has been doing a little hunting on his own account, assisted by two hill Indians, sent down word that he knew where the robbers were, and would take the officers to the spot if they promised him part of the reward. He claims to have seen Sontag and Evans somewhere near flume station No. 9.

SEQUOIA GIGANTEA.

Two Sections of Big Trees Shipped East Yesterday.

Two sections of one of the big trees, Sequoia Gigantea, growing in the vicinity of Moore & Smith's mills on Kings river arrived in Fresno Monday over the Porterville branch, on their way east. One of the sections is to be shipped to New York city and the other to the Royal Academy in London.

The tree from which the sections were taken was a perfectly round one and about twenty-three feet in diameter. The sections are each five feet long, running lengthwise with the tree, and split into twelve blocks. Each block is a huge affair and is numbered so that when they arrive at their destination they can be put together as they originally were.

The bark is strongly boxed up with boards so that in the shipping it will not become knocked loose from the wood. The tree was cut and the sections shipped by the Kings River lumber company. One section of the tree is all that will go on two flat cars.

ANOTHER FLUME

Will Probably be Built by Michigan Capitalists.

Mr. Graham, the engineer who made the survey for the great San Diego flume, and for the Moore & Smith flume, went to the mountains yesterday in the interest of a Michigan syndicate that owns a large body of land on the north side of the San Joaquin river, for the purpose of making a survey for a V flume from the pineries to a point near Pollasky.

The syndicate owns some 20,000 acres of fine timber land. The timber from this land they want to get to market, and unless the Pollasky road is extended to the pineries the company will have to flume it down.

THE DEMOCRATIC RALLY.

Great Preparations Being Made for Tomorrow Evening.

The Democrats are making great preparations for their rally and parade tomorrow night. They have been at work for several weeks and will undoubtedly make an excellent showing.

The parade will be a large one, many country Democrats having announced their intention of participating. Some will come in a body and others as individuals.

After the parade there will be speaking in the court house park. Those who will address the people are Olin Wellborn of San Diego, John P. Irish, W. W. Phillips, W. R. Shannon and others.

One Maine Man's Luck.

There are some men whose luck is worth as much as the mammoth and unconditional legacy of your California uncles. A young professional man in Portland, to whom a Virginia relative left an old fashioned desk some years ago, has accidentally discovered a secret drawer in it containing $2,500. A man with luck like that could travel and break Monte Carlo.—Bangor Commercial.

A CONSPICUOUS BLUNDER

In their frantic attacks on Labor Commissioner Peck the Cleveland Democrats have been guilty of a most egregious blunder. They have assailed Mr. Peck incessantly with vulgar personal abuse in their newspapers, they have engaged the presumably expensive services of imported free traders to impugn the veracity of his statistics and they have even caused his arrest upon what is apparently a trumped up charge made only in the desperate hope of discrediting the facts given in his report. But while vindictively persecuting the Labor Commissioner, the howling dervishes of Mugwumpery have unaccountably neglected to resort to harsh measures against Bank Superintendent Preston, whose official report is quite as criminal in the Mugwump eye as that of Mr. Peck.

The labor commissioner dealt the prospects of the calamity party and the free trade prophet a deadly blow by demonstrating that in one year under the McKinley law the wages in industrial occupations in the state of New York had increased $6,377,926.09, while the net increase in the production of these industries for the same period had been $31,316,130.68. Mr. Preston promptly followed up this demonstration by showing in his own official report that the savings banks deposits in New York state had increased from $615,889,970 on January 1, 1889, to $710,112,873 on July 1, 1892, while the number of individual depositors had increased by about 200,000. The presentation of these facts, showing the steady increase in the savings of the masses under protection, was hardly less damaging to the cause of the perennial candidate than the report of Mr. Peck. Like the commissioner of labor Mr. Preston was an orthodox Democrat, bound according to the Mugwump code to cheat the people and to distort and suppress the truth in the interests of his party.

Yet the bank superintendent has so far escaped the rigorous treatment meted out to the labor commissioner. He has been roundly denounced, it is true, for presuming to reveal increase in the savings banks deposits under the "robber tariff," but he has not been, we believe, chased by a committee of Mugwumps, native or foreign born, and has not been arrested. It is possible that the free traders think that they will have hands their full in dealing with Mr. Peck alone. But if they expect to be considered consistent, they will have to get Superintendent Preston arrested also. They will have to be quick about it, too, or all the theatrical effect will be lost.

Prominent members of the Democratic party in Kansas have called a conference to be held at Topeka on the 7th of October, to protest against the scheme which has been entered into to turn the state government into the hands of the People's Party in return for the support of electors who will vote for Cleveland, in the event of the election being thrown into the house of representatives. An address has been issued to the voters of the state which calls attention to the disgraceful and unprecedented fact that the convention abandoned the Democratic state organization, and that this extraordinary self abasement was performed in the interest not of a party of similar faith, but of a party "not in harmony with Democratic principles or precedents." It holds up before genuine Democrats and loyal Kansans the dishonor of being "delivered to a hostile political organization which, if successful, would destroy the Democratic party of Kansas, and bring disaster and ruin to the material interests of our people." It appears from this that conspiracy to throw the election into the house is not having altogether smooth sailing in the state of Kansas. There are evidently a good many Democrats there who are not willing to surrender their principles at the demand of Mr. Cleveland's political managers.

The Democratic bosses have so long held imperial sway in Fresno county that they believe the voters can be controlled by them in spite of all the outrages they may heap upon them. This fact is demonstrated in the county government act robbery of the taxpayers. Men not wholly drunk with power would have known that taxpayers do not tamely submit to such outrages.

Charges of lying made by liars are not effective answers to facts and figures from the records. The robbery of the taxpayers by the county government act cannot be covered up by the abuse of those who make the facts public.

An indignant Republican wishes the Expositor to understand that Republicans have never contracted the habit of pulling down the American flag. Does the evening paper understand?

A MATTER OF TRUTH.

Under the head of "A Matter of Good Manners," the Expositor says of this paper:

It seldom misses an opportunity to say something offensive to Democrats collectively, and never has a good word for a Democrat personally.

There is no excuse for this misstatement, and it is made deliberately for the purpose of placing The Republican in a false light among people who may not be informed as to its political policy.

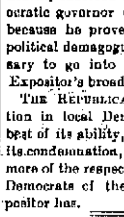

In yesterday's issue The Republican resented, very properly, the insinuations made by the Expositor and Mr. Parsons that a Republican had torn down the flag at the Democratic headquarters. The broad and insulting manner in which the above inference was drawn both by the Expositor and Mr. Parsons was very offensive to the Republicans of the community, especially as there was not the shadow of evidence that a Republican had anything to do with the scurvy act. It was far more probable that it was the act of a drunken hoodlum who did not know whether he was in the shadow of the Democratic headquarters or a Chinese Joss house; and still, with absolutely no evidence, the Expositor and Mr. Parsons saw fit to insult the Republicans of the community by proclaiming the opinion that the despicable person who pulled down the flag was inspired by political animosity. The Expositor cannot mention an instance in which The Republican has thrown such an unwarranted accusation as this into the teeth of its Democrats of this county.

The political policy of this paper may be briefly stated, for its ways are not devious and past finding out. It believes in the principles of the Republican party and it advocates and defends those principles. It opposes the theories of the Democratic party, but it does not question the honesty of those who believe in them. It criticizes no man merely because he is a Democrat. In business and social matters it ignores politics and positive instructions to that effect are given to its writers and newsgatherers. Democrats in office are condemned when they go wrong, and they are also commended when they deserve commendation. Instances almost without number in local affairs can be cited in proof of this. It is hardly a week since The Republican heartily indorsed the course of the Democratic governor of New York merely because he proved himself not to be a political demagogue. But it is unnecessary to go into details to answer the Expositor's broad falsehood.

The Republican opposes the corruption in local Democratic politics to the best of its ability, and is not sparing in its condemnation, but it nevertheless has more of the respect and confidence of the Democrats of the county than the Expositor has.

The snap primaries will snap again in November, and several Holdfasts will be mixed up with their back teeth. They will be crushed in the jaws of their own trap.

Congressman Bowers is not an orator of the Wellborn sort, but he is something of a good deal more importance to the people of this district—a protectionist and a practical, energetic worker.

Boils.

Boils according to Dr. King, an eminent authority "are generally connected with derangements of the liver and stomach." While the older Sarsaparillas contain potash which aggravates eruptions, Joy's is peculiarly a stomach and bowel corrective, and is the only one that is so. Its regulating influences cause boils to dry up and disappear almost immediately. A case in point.

"I had boils break out on my neck. One had bursted. I took Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla and in a few days the other boils had dried up. In the spring of 1890 I took one of the other Sarsaparillas and the result was a mass of pimples. Hearing that Joy's was later and acted differently I used it this year with the above satisfactory results." J. Newman, Alameda, Cal.

Formerly with the "Alta California," S. F.

Robt. Walsh, with Wells Fargo & Co., and scores of other San Franciscans report the same experience. It avoids the use of the lance

CROP BULLETIN NO. 17.

For the Week Ending Monday, September 26, 1892.

United States department of agriculture, weather bureau, Fresno, Cal.

The week has been cloudless, except a thunder heard with vivid lightning, which passed up the valley Sunday night with a trace of rainfall which did no damage to the raisin crop.

The temperature was four degrees below the normal. The humidity was about normal, except two mornings with very heavy dews.

The week has been a favorable one for fruit drying. The first crop of raisins is all picked and in many vineyards is ready to be turned. The coming week will put them in shape for stacking.

A report published in the San Francisco Chronicle of today says: "The vineyards near Fresno on the west side are being ravaged by a worm resembling the tomato vine worm." I would be glad to get information in regard to this and some specimens of the worm alive.

Highest temperature 94, lowest 53.

New Flags Wanted.

Several of the leading merchants are considering the advisability of circulating a subscription list for the purpose of raising funds to purchase a white flag, also a blue one, for Uncle Sam's signal service in this city. The complaint is that the present two cannot be distinguished apart.

THE FAIR.

Bad Luck for the Rouge et Noir Wheel.

STOCK EXHIBITS LOOMING UP

Some of the Noticeable Displays in the Pavilion Yesterday—The Races.

The five men in charge of the wheel of fortune looked very blue under the grand stand at the fair grounds yesterday.

They had paid the Fair Directors $1150 for the privilege for the week, and it looked yesterday as if they would not be able to "earn" their money back. There were not enough "suckers" present yesterday to bite at a bait with three to one chances against their winning anything, and the cappers did most of the playing themselves.

There will be a bigger crowd of people on the ground next Friday when the school children will attend the races, and the men with the percentage wheel will probably do a better business.

THE STOCK EXHIBIT.

Several pens of Poland China sows and families, half a dozen cows and bulls, a handful of Jacks and several coops of chickens were on exhibition yesterday.

The attendance was not as large as was expected, but it was fair and the visitors enjoyed the occasion.

IN THE PAVILION.

The lower floor of the pavilion presented a more orderly and finished appearance yesterday than the day before, the exhibitors having finished arranging their booths, and the effect is very pretty.

The most noticeable horticultural display is that made by the Fresno County World's Fair commission. The fruit shows signs of injury since it was removed from the cool dark cellar of the Hughes block, the shaking up and the exposure to the hot sunshine in transit having caused the preserving fluid in some of the jars to ferment and become discolored. Some of the jars, however, look as well as they did on the day on which the fruit was put into them.

An elegant lace and pampas plume booth was erected yesterday in front of the commission's exhibit for the use of the secretary. It adds brightness to the surroundings and fills a considerable yawning void of floor space.

About one-third of the space of the upper gallery was occupied yesterday and it presented a somewhat forlorn appearance. It will probably be filled today. The art department on this floor, under the management of Mrs. W. D. Crichton, is growing gradually and already contains some fine samples of needle work and paintings. It is too early yet in the week to mention any of these exhibits specially.

THE VICTOR BICYCLE EXHIBIT.

The ground floor, however, is well filled, one of the most elaborate displays being that of the Victor bicycle agency, in charge of A. H. Greeley, manager, and two fair assistants.

The booth is elaborately and elegantly ornamented with drapery and lace and the bicycles are arranged in an attractive manner, both in the booth and the main floor. Only the choicest products of the agency are there. Among these is the Victor safety bicycle Model B, beautifully enameled and nickle plated. It is not only a thing of use but an article of vertu as well, lightness, strength, durability and beauty being its main features.

The Victor safety bicycle model F embodies a new principle of frame construction which gives great strength and stiffness, with decreased weight. It is fitted with a rigid front fork and Victor cushion tires. It is one of those machines that are made to stay.

The Victory safety bicycle was originally made in 1890, being built especially for lady riders. Its popularity is undoubtedly greater than any other high grade wheel of this class. Many improvements have been added since the original model was constructed and it has the reputation of being the easiest riding of any lady's machine. It is full nickeled and enameled.

To these light weight riders, who want a comfortable, easy running wheel for use on good roads, the Victor safety bicycle, model D, is recommended as the best. It has the same frame as model E, but has a rigid front fork and 1¼ inch Victor cushion tires. It is provided with pneumatic cushion tires.

One of the Credenda bicycles on exhibition is a novelty. It has a solid aluminium handle, weighing only half a pound. This is an excellent example of strength, combined with lightness.

The man or woman who could not select a wheel here to suit him or her must be very hard to please, as every wheel in the agency's display is the best of its class and of the best class as well. A visit to the booth will be found both interesting and profitable to every person who appreciates the health giving exercise of bicycle riding.

SILVERWARE.

Thomas Yost & Son have an elegant display of silverware and articles of vertu in the latest designs. In photograph and colored prints they have a selection that cannot be surpassed even in San Francisco. This firm has built up a reputation for honest dealing and for the superior character of its wares that is known throughout the valley. Toilet and manicure sets in embossed, engraved and oxydized silver, paper knives, pen wipers, silver and gold pencils and card cases, and hundreds of other rare and beautiful articles may be seen in the Yost booth.

There is also a complete line of gold pens of almost every size and by the most prominent and popular makers. Then there are butter and dessert knives, souvenir spoons, salt holders, etc., in silver and gold and of the most exquisite design.

There are some elegant colored prints and paintings on satin which must be seen to be properly admired. The map of Fresno county by Yost & Son occupies a conspicuous place on the wall. Every property owner should have it. It is the most elaborate and correct map of the county ever made.

CIGAR MAKING.

The interesting process of manufacturing cigars is exemplified by the enterprising firm of Riese Brothers on I street. They have several choice samples of domestic and Havana leaf on exhibition and an expert cigarmaker working at his trade in plain view.

Only white labor is employed by the firm and the cigars are perfect in form and makeup. Even non-smokers take pleasure in looking at the fragrant cigars assuming shape under the hands of the skillful manipulator.

The process is shown in all its branches and is an interesting spectacle.

FINE STATIONERY.

It would be hard to find in the San Joaquin valley a better and more complete exhibit of stationery than that exhibited on the ground floor of the pavilion by C. H. Riege. Blank books and books of all kinds, paper knifes and inkstands of unique models as useful as ornamental. Here the bookkeeper, clerk, or man of literary tastes may have all his wants supplied. He cannot fail to find what he wants at Riege's and he cannot fail to find the best quality of everything, whether it be a lead pencil, a sheet of paper or a big ledger.

Mr. Riege's clerks are experienced in their business and are of gentlemanly deportment. They know how to treat their customers politely and well, making no discrimination in price. People who deal with Riege stay with him. They cannot do better anywhere else.

ELEGANT FURNITURE.

W. Parker Lyon, the furniture artist, has considerable space up stairs and he has made the most of it. His booth presents the appearance of a pretty scene on the stage. On the back wall is an oil painting done in Holdredge's best style and on each side of it is a study in oil of drapery and rugs brilliantly colored and executed by a master hand.

Mr. Lyon has some novel effects in furniture in his display. There are some bedroom sets that make the beholder sleepy to look at, and what he has not of the tasteful and comfortable in rocking chairs is not worth having.

Persons desiring to furnish their homes luxuriously can do so to the best advantage by looking over Mr. Lyon's stock before purchasing. All his goods are of the latest pattern and well and solidly made.

THE PLYMOUTH ROCK EXHIBIT.

In a neat show case near the east entrance to the pavilion is a magnificent display of shoes and slippers by the Plymouth Rock Shoe store. There are some satin shoes for opera and ball that might well elicit the longing of a society belle, and make her feet itch to get into them. There are gaiters in lace, button and congress styles, with opera toes, French heels, and with round and square toes and heels to suit the most persistent walker or inveterate dancer.

IMPROVED MACHINERY.

The display at the Fresno Agricultural works illustrates very well the march of invention in the line of farming tools.

The line of vehicles manufactured by the Columbus Buggy company comprises surreys, phaetons, buggies, rigs and other vehicles of latest make. There are also the John Deere gang plow, the Studebaker wagon, the Buckeye and the Hoosier grain drill, the Porteous Fresno scraper, rotary harrow, cultivator, vineyard gang plow, three styles of vineyard trucks, the McCormick and Walter A. Wood and Standard mowing machines.

THE FRESNO BUSINESS COLLEGE.

The office of that excellent and reputable institution, the Fresno Business college, is in the gallery of the pavilion. It is difficult for any educational institution to make such a showing at an agricultural fair as its promoters might wish, such things appealing chiefly to the eye. The reputation and work of this well established institution can be best seen in its graduates and in the character of the pupils attending it.

In this regard the college has nothing to fear from competition. Every one of its graduates and every one of its pupils is a living certificate of recommendation. Its proprietor, W. G. Ramsey, is a teacher and manager of experience and the fact that he has made both the Stockton and Fresno institutions successful is of itself a sufficient proof of his ability to perform all that he promises.

A full corps of the most experienced teachers is employed, the best of discipline is maintained and only pupils of acknowledged respectability are received.

The rates of tuition are remarkably low when the fact is taken into consideration that the course of study is broader than that of any other similar school. The rates are, one year $75, six months $50, one month $10.

Samples of the handwriting of the pupils are on exhibition in the pavilion and they speak well for the thoroughness of the system of instruction that is pursued in that college.

THE FAIR.

Paul Borchardt has an eye for the beautiful. Anyone can see that by looking at his splendid exhibit in the pavilion near the east entrance. Fine china through which the sunbeams filter their gold, and on whose white surface the artistic brush has painted indelibly the most beautiful designs, iridized wine and water glasses reflecting all the colors of the rainbow, ivory and pearl handled carvers, fruit plates and meat platters, and everything that is a pleasure to the eye may be seen there. It is a school for good taste.

THE RACES.

The pool selling for the races was more spirited than expected and it was readily seen by the way the gold coins dropped into the poolseller's box. The races were good of the kind and the talent were lucky in most cases in naming the winners.

The most notable event of the day was the smashing of his own record by Porter Ashe's El Capitan, sired by Nutwood. He was sent around the track to beat his own record of 2.29 and succeeded in doing it in 2.26.

The first event was the Expositor trotting stakes for foals of 1891, best two in three. It was won by Mrs. Barlow's Athavia.

The Polleky trotting stakes, three in five for foals of 1889, was won by Panjabi in three straight heats.

H. R. Robinson's Lyda C won the trotting race for the 2:40 class in three straight heats, the best time being 2:27.

Weisbaum & Wilson's Hanford Medium won the 2:40 class pacing race in three straight heats.

E. A. Neame's Lady Gwen won the five-eighths mile dash by a nose, with Queen Bee second. Time 1:01½.

Today's Races.

The following in the program for today's races:

FOURTH RACE.

THE BALLOON ASCENSION.

The balloon ascension did not take place as advertised owing to the lack of gas and other things. It will take place today.

PROHIBITION DAY.

Yesterday was Prohibition day, but the leaders of the party did not avail themselves of the opportunity so kindly offered by the directors of the Fair Grounds' association, and the speaking took place last night in court house park, H. C. Needham of Los Angeles being the orator.

REPUBLICAN DAY.

Today was announced as Republican day and Irwin M. Scott, of the Union Iron works of San Francisco, was on the bills as the speaker, but the county central committee decided to have Mr. Scott speak tonight in court house park.

FOR FRESNO.

Some Immigration Starting in From Mound Valley, Kansas.

James N. Tibbetts and family took their departure yesterday for Fresno, Cal., where they will make their future home, or until Jim's health is improved. This was one of our oldest and best families, Mr. Tibbetts having located in this township twenty-three years ago, being one of the first settlers. By his industry, frugality and energy he improved and built him a nice home and was comfortably fixed, but his health had broken down and he was compelled to seek another location. The many friends of this family regret to have them leave and commend them to people of California as good and worthy people. In Mr. Tibbetts they will find a man worthy of confidence and respect, and one who will always be found doing his duty to his fellow man.—Mound Valley Herald.

DANIEL SULLY

In "The Millionaire" at the Barton Next Tuesday.

Daniel Sully will present his new play, "The Millionaire," at the Barton opera house next Tuesday evening, October 4th. Mr. Sully is a peculiarly vigorous and manly actor agreeably free from mannerisms and stage affectation. "The Millionaire" is said to be a play of marked dramatic possibilities, with a story that sustains its interest to the end. It is not lacking in realism, the railroad scene in the second act being particularly lifelike.

"The Millionaire" is one of those plays that will excite critical enthusiasm, and it has many excellencies that other dramas of the present day do not possess. In the first place it aims to present a moral hero drawn from actual life, and it does present him without any extraneous theatric nonsense and without any sophistry. It is the story of an Irishman who is proud to be an American, and who has a clean, healthy, simple sense of the heroism of labor and the honor of doing his duty. The play has an ethical and a literary value.

Mr. Sully in this play presents a manly, unpretentious type of Irishman, in contradistinction to the worn-out stage type. And he plays the personage with a simple sincerity that is very effective and admirable.

DIABOLICAL JOY.

W. H. Cureton Rejoices Over Bursted Air Castles.

EDITOR REPUBLICAN.—So Colonel Pollasky has really sold out to Colonel Huntington! And now we can have a rest. A sweet repose from the din and drivil of what Colonel Pollasky is going to do with that road. No more are we to awake from the dreams of "the higher Sierras," whether we have been conveyed in palace cars over Colonel Pollasky's individual road (in which Colonel Huntington has no interest whatever, so help me Baal), and amble out on shoeless feet, clad in gauzy nocturnal garb, in quest of THE REPUBLICAN, eager to peruse the long interviews with Colonel Pollasky.

There being no earthly enterprise upon which to base a joint stock company that Colonel Pollasky has not already joint stocked up and duly recorded, we are also to have respite and nepenthe from glowing headlines in our morning paper of what Colonel Pollasky is just on the point of undertaking.

A careful search of the records discloses the fact that Colonel Pollasky has organized and is the president of 879 joint stock companies, all which are purely philanthropic and eleemosynary in their character.

These enterprises are of great pith and moment and shall their currents be turned awry by the great Pacific coast dam — Huntington? What about the electric street railroad "system" that was to encircle the town and bisect it like a Dutchman carving a Swiss cheese?

Shall we look in vain for the planting of that much talked of electric "plant" at Hamptonville to harness the power of the San Joaquin's turbulent tide wherewith to store up and transmit light and power for our streets and street railways?

All gone into the Great Maw. Colonel Huntington opened his mouth and sip—out of sight.

But, my countrymen, what magnanimity, what broad philanthropy in the noble Colonel Huntington in taking in out of the wet Colonel Pollasky's little non-paying road—purely from personal friendship.

Shall we ever see the like again? And those rights of way through the vineyards, for kicking against giving, Bachman and a few other anarchists were damned with a vigorous damn, were ordered to go deep down below where none but old Nick hath the ghost of a show.

Who will pay for them? Who wants this little jerk-water road? Colonel Huntington. It's another strand in the great web in which we wiggle and twist and squirm, but out of which, as things now are, we never can pull ourselves.

And Bachman stands astride the dome of Chatteau de Claphoard and shakes his gory locks in our shame-covered faces and sings:

"Good people, all of Fresno town,
I told you so, I told you so;
I told you 'twas for Huntington,
You're working so, you're working so."

W. H. CURETON.

AT THE PLAY.

Rude People Rebuked for Disturbing a Performance.

One finds real comedy in the "Junior Partner," amusing situations, easy renderings and the points apparent.

An old acquaintance might ejaculate surprisedly at the immensity of May Irwin, but does not regret the change, as it is a study to the stout woman—her carriage, grace and general sprightliness.

The apparent difference of ages between her and her mother is a farce in itself; as the daughter looks the older, while her interpretation of the part suggests a girlish freshness and innocence.

Even her slang has music in it; that is when compared to her cornet playing.

So much has been said and written of and for Henry Miller that little remains undone of praise, yet one incident occurred at the California theater last Saturday evening that might serve as a thought topic for many Fresnoites.

He was playing the part of Frederic in "Frederic Lemaitre," and had reached a climax of despair, wonderfully pictured, that should be reverently acknowledged by any moderately intelligent audience, when a group of ladies(?) with their escorts burst forth simultaneously with unrestrained, immoderate snickering. The fact remains undisputed that excessive joy often vents itself in copious tears, while vice versa, violent grief wears off its keenest edge in convulsive laughter.

Perhaps some such apology might be offered for the party mentioned, but Mr. Miller did not see it in that light, as with becoming dignity he administered a rebuke, there and then to the offenders, adding that he would ring the curtain down if the barbarism continued.

The rebuke was accepted and the house signified its appreciation by a generous applause.

There is a soupcon of the Daiys' in this company, even in the appropriateness of the women's robes, unless we except Madame Bonhard, who might, to my judgment, change her pretty house dress in the last act for a street gown, coming as she did from a distance.

Miss Phillie Rankin as the housemaid has a difficult part to sustain; obliged as she is to force back her natural vivaciousness to support the dreary langor of her drawl.

The victim of the dental jugglers, who was forced into anesthetic slumbers for three hours, to suit the convenience of his dental highness, won the sympathy of the entire audience. And even his ridiculous pantomime could not hide the awful truth hidden in his soul.

O, these dentists! Like Hoyt's plumbers, they should be shown up.

The house was well filled and the gallery unusually orderly, considering the warmth of the evening.

KINGSBURG NEWS.

A VERY LARGE FRUIT CROP HARVESTED.

The Packing House in Operation. Heavy Shipments of Cattle Being Made.

Your correspondent has at length awakened to a sense of his duty and will hereafter keep the public informed of the various doings of the burghers, as well as other matters of interest in this fruitful region.

The season just closing has been an important and profitable one for the fruit growers. The records made by some young orchards are startling and fruit shipments have been heavy in consequence. The figures that can be given would be too great a tax on your credibility, else I should give a few.

Operations have just commenced in the packing house and large quantities of raisins are being brought in. The work is being conducted under the management of Mr. Lem Harp, which fact is in itself a guarantee that none but the best work will be done. Mr. Fairbanks, the former superintendent, will run the Traver house during the present season.

Things have been lively in a political way during the past week. We have been harangued in turn by apostles of the People's, the Democratic and the Prohibition parties. Captain Dawes expounded the People's Party doctrines, Van Meter, Mordecai and Jacobs propounded Democratic principles, while R. Foster Stone dumbfounded us by his manner of belaboring the Prohibition question. The audiences were not very large, owing to the fact that the appointments had not been well advertised. The Republicans will hold forth on Saturday night of this week.

Shipments of cattle from the grant are heavy, averaging twenty carloads per week.

Dave Conrave has retired from blacksmithing, for a time at least. He disposed of his interests to Lloyd & Snow, who will conduct business at the old stand.

The annual work of repairing the C & K company's ditch is progressing rapidly.

A gun club will soon be organized and an athletic club is spoken of.

A WILD RIDE.

H. H. Clark's Experience Behind a Runaway Team.

H. H. Clark and family, who left Fresno about a week ago for Merced, had an experience they will remember for many a day while on their way to Coulterville from Merced.

Mr. Clark, his wife and daughter and three other passengers left Merced for Coulterville in a stage driven by a man named Brook. When about ten miles out one of the clips holding the singletree broke and the horses, being wild, became unmanageable and ran away.

The driver was jerked off his seat and fell under the stage, breaking his right leg at the thigh, fracturing his right arm and severely lacerating the left side of his face and scalp. His injuries are believed to be fatal.

The lines were dragging on the ground and the horses, unrestrained, dashed wildly down a steep incline, the grade being about 800 feet. The off horse being loose from the traces crowded his mate through a wire fence, throwing him down. This stopped the stage and gave the passengers an opportunity to alight, and they took advantage of it with great rapidity.

The passengers were much frightened and were very grateful to escape with a mere jolting. They expected at the least to be severely bruised. Some of the people living in that neighborhood came to the assistance of the passengers and conveyed them and the driver to Snelling, whence they continued their journey.

RISKY PROSPECTING.

A MAN'S NARROW ESCAPE FROM A VEGETABLE OCTOPUS.

A Remarkable Experience in the Mountains of Hawaii—A Murderous Plant That Often Causes a Horrible Death. A Naturalist's Story.

In the latter part of the year 1887 I was commissioned by the Belgian government to find a certain rare wandering plant that was believed to grow on the higher slopes of Mauna Kea, a large extinct volcano situated in the northern part of Hawaii. I had a station built on one of the wooded slopes of the mountain, far away from any other habitation. My only companion was a native who had lived all his life on this part of the island. About twice a month he would visit the seacoast to obtain needful supplies for our camp. This native, who said that his ancestors were "big chiefs," whose bones lay secretly buried in caves on the mountain sides, was very old, although he could climb canyons and scale lava cliffs with wonderful agility.

During one of my botanizing excursions I passed by the mouth of a narrow canyon, or gorge, and I asked Pili, the old native, if he had ever explored the same. Pili suddenly became interested in his pipe and didn't know anything about the gulch and didn't understand what I said. This was rather strange in Pili, for natives generally know every rock and tree in the section where they live, and I knew Pili was lying when he said he did not understand me.

So naturally I determined to examine into the mysterious ravine. Some time after this I was walking with Pili down a gentle slope when I saw a number of bones. Pili stopped. He walked back a few rods and sat down on a stump. Not a word would he say. I began examining the bones, and for two hours or more puzzled my brain over a problem as I had never done before. What I found was this:

A circular area of about 100 yards in diameter, thickly covered with the bleached remains of birds, animals and human beings. These ghastly relics were scattered among the shrubs and grass. The larger bones were near the center; in fact, I found that the bones became gradually smaller as I approached the periphery of this circular boneyard. In the center of the circle was a well-like opening in the ground, from which emanated a sickening odor. No vegetation grew within fifty feet of this cavity. How came this hole with its horrible stench? How came these bones here? How came they to be arranged about the central opening? These questions continually presented themselves, but they remained unanswered.

A deep mystery seemed to hang over the spot. It was growing dark. I heard Pili calling and hurried to him. He pointed in terror to the center of the bone covered area. A shadow was thrown on the scene by a rising bank of clouds. But I declare that I saw rising from the pit a visible vapor, a column of visible fog or smoke or gas that was luminous. Spellbound I gazed at the spectral column. Near the ground it had the appearance of a phosphorescent flame and gradually became fainter as it ascended. Your imagination will have to picture the unearthly phenomenon. Pili pulled at my arm and in silence we left the spot, and we did not loiter by the wayside.

As I was looking for a simple plant and not blood curdling manifestations, I was inclined to break camp and leave. But by morning my nerves were in better order, and I went back to the scene of the evening adventure. I could find no clew to the mystery, and the matter gradually went out of mind as I prosecuted my labors.

But I had occasion after a time to visit a spot near where I had seen the canyon about which Pili was so apparently ignorant. One evening I made known my intention to Pili to return to the place and to explore the gorge.

"When?" said Pili.

"In the morning," I replied.

Without a word the old native arose from his mat on the floor and departed. He was gone all night. He returned by sunrise, bearing on his shoulders a bundle. When we reached the canyon he stopped and unpacked his load. I saw a stone idol, curious in shape; he placed it on the ground and then took a small pig from his bundle. Making a fire, he sprinkled something in the flames, muttered strange sounds and made symbols in the air with his fingers. The animal offering was placed before the idol. After he completed his strange rites he said that I might never come back, but he had done what he could to preserve my life. He would wait until the going down of the sun, and then, if I did not come back, he would wail for me as did his fathers long, long ago when a son fell in battle. Then he sat down, covered up his head and was silent.

All this made me feel uncomfortable. The natives of the Hawaiian islands are supposed to be Christianized, but in time of danger or trouble many often turn to the discarded gods of their fathers. I knew Pili believed that great danger awaited any one who ascended the ravine. But I went. I had gone about a mile, when over the tops of tree ferns I saw a waving mass of sea green foliage undulating in the wind. The object looked like a huge bunch of thick leaved seaweed, and the peculiar motion of the same arrested my attention. I was now over 200 feet away from the curious object and hurried to obtain a closer view. A wall of fern covered lava about ten feet high stopped my course. Climbing up so that I just could see over the edge, I saw an object such as the eyes of civilized man never before beheld. Imagine a bunch of seaweed about twelve feet high, the edge of each piece lined with fine streamers which radiated in all directions and trembled like fine wire spirals, the whole object moving like the fringes of a sea anemone.

I was wearing a heavy felt hat with a wide brim, and I pushed it back from my forehead to get a better view. As I moved my arm the strange object ceased quivering and every vibrating antenna or stream er pointed directly at me. Just then my foot slipped from a jutting rock on which I was standing and I fell, but not before something cleaved the air with a horrible hissing noise and struck on my hat crown. I felt the force of a blow as I fell, and knew no more for a time. I regained consciousness after a short time and lay in a partial stupor. The wall above me was stripped of its verdure and I saw a long, sinewy, snakelike object writhing, twisting and curling on the rocks. It had missed its prey, and a low, angry hum filled the air.—Honolulu Advertiser.

The Dog in China.

The Chinese, notwithstanding the fact that they eat the flesh of the dog and esteem it a great delicacy, honor their dogs more highly and take better care of them than any other race of people. SHE WAS SHOT.

But the Missile Was Projected by a Harmless Airgun.

"I had a curious experience while passing through New York," said a western lady to some friends on the beach at Newport. "We had taken rooms at the B——k, and unfortunately reached New York just in time for an absolutely torrid 'hot wave.' As I had pressing need for a few days' shopping I kept my husband and brother in town for forty-eight hours, to their great discomfort, and they spent their evenings by the windows of our sitting room in the lightest of attire, drinking iced drinks and trying vainly to keep cool. The night before we left town we retired rather late, after the men had been solacing themselves in their usual fashion.

"'It was so hot that it was some time before I could sleep, and just as I was dozing off I remembered that I had left my rings on the dressing table near the sitting room door, the windows of which were wide open on a little iron balcony. 'A good chance for robbers,' I thought drowsily, but was too lazy to get up to put them in a safer place. Late in the night I was aroused by the report of a pistol, or what sounded like one; and my first impression was that I was shot, for I was literally bathed, head and shoulders, in something that I felt sure for the moment was blood.

"'Henry,' I screamed, 'I have been shot! I am dying.' And I felt so strange and giddy that I was sure my end was approaching. 'Take good care of the children,' I murmured. 'And, oh, Henry, promise me not to marry that horrid Miss M—— that you seem to admire so much!' 'What nonsense, Em!' said my callous spouse, as he struck a light and turned on the gas, 'you have been dreaming.'

"'But I am wet with blood!' I exclaimed indignantly, feeling that after all he wasn't worthy of a tender death bed scene, and that I felt all right again. 'By Jove, you are moist,' he said, putting his hand on my shoulder, 'but it is not blood, whatever it is.' Suddenly he gave a great guffaw of laughter and pointed to the parlor, which was dimly lighted by the gasjet in my room. 'Well, what is it? I don't see anything,' I put in crossly, for by this time I felt thoroughly upset.

"'Oh, it is too delicious,' he gasped. 'You have been shot, you poor little thing, but not by burglars; only by a soda water bottle, and there on the table, where he and my brother Harry had left them, lay a couple of bottles, one pointing as straight for my bed as if it had been aimed at me. Henry had cut the wires confining the cork of one of the bottles and had then concluded not to open it, and I suppose the heat may have helped the effervescence, for the force of the explosion carried both cork and the soda water across the room, hitting me on the shoulder.

"Of course you may imagine how my two men enjoyed my 'shooting affair' and what capital they have made out of it."—New York Tribune.

The Value of Lime Water.

The value of lime water about the house in the summer can scarcely be overestimated. To prepare it is an easy matter, as all that is necessary is to put a layer of unslaked lime in a wide mouthed jar and fill it with cold water. There is no danger of using too much lime, as the water will only take up so much, however much is put in. It takes only a few hours for the water to take up all the lime that is possible. After it has stood say five hours the water may be drained off and more water added until the lime is all absorbed.

Acidity of the stomach is corrected by adding a little lime water to the drinking water. A teaspoonful of lime water added to a glass of milk corrects the tendency which milk has to coagulate in the stomach, forming a hard, indigestible mass. For this reason it should be added to the milk fed the little children, and nursing bottles should be rinsed with it. As a mild disinfectant there is nothing safer or better.

A Vacation on a Bicycle.

A school teacher of Yellow Springs, O., will take her summer outing by traveling on a bicycle from her home to Davenport, Ia. The trip will require twenty-five days and she will doubtless create something of a sensation all along the line. A bicycle party would certainly be an enjoyable and an inexpensive way to spend a two weeks' or three weeks' vacation.—New York Recorder.

IRVING M. SCOTT

WILL NOT SPEAK AT THE FAIR GROUNDS TODAY,

But in the Court House Park This Evening—Reason of This Change.

The executive committee of the Republican county central committee met last night and decided to cancel the political meeting previously announced at the fair grounds at 11 o'clock today. Arrangements were made to have Hon. Irving M. Scott speak in the park this evening instead.

The reason for the change was because of the urgent request of many business and laboring men who were unable to attend a meeting in the middle of the day, and it was further urged that the extra expense of car fare, buggy hire and $1 admission was too expensive to be stood by the average seeker after political information.

The following list of vice presidents were selected, and are earnestly requested to attend the meeting tonight at the park: Captain H. D. Colson, William Helm, A. G. Deardorff, Judge R. P. Davidson, S. J. Hinds, N. W. Mooder, J. P. Vincent, F. G. Berry, J. W. Short, Dr. A. J. Pedlar, H. O. Buker, Phil Scott, J. W. Bones, Rev. E. G. Chaddock, Judge George A.
